Sustaining the Hope
to which we have been called (Ephesians 1:18)

Attentive to the diverse experiences of vulnerability and uncertainty that affect the lives of so many, including our own lives, this day of reflection explores the ways that our loving God continues to enlighten the eyes of our hearts that we may know more deeply the reason for our hope and share that hope with the world (1 Peter 3:15).

Presenter: Sr. Margaret E. Guider, O.S.F.

In 1990, Sr. Guider joined the faculty of Weston Jesuit School of Theology in Cambridge, Massachusetts and in 2008, she became a member of the ecclesiastical faculty of the School of Theology and Ministry at Boston College. Working in the area of Systematic Theology, her teaching and research interests focus primarily on ecclesiology and missiology. Currently, she is working on a book length manuscript entitled With Hearts Broken Open: U.S. Franciscan Missionaries in Latin America, the Caribbean and Africa (1879-2019). Among her most recent publications is a co-edited volume entitled The Grace of Medellín: History, Theology and Legacy: Reflections on the Significance of Medellín for the Church in the United States. Miami: Convivium Press, 2018). Sr. Guider is the Past-President of the Association of Professors of Mission and former president of the American Society of Missiology. She has served as an advisor and consultant for numerous religious institutes and missionary societies as well as a trustee and board member for a variety of Catholic institutions and organizations. Sr. Guider is a member of the Sisters of St. Francis of Mary Immaculate (Joliet, IL)
